

Marc's favorite table saw blade - a blade that does it all. Crosscut or rip any type of wood. No need to change the blade once it's on your saw. The 18°-hook angle is aggressive on rip cuts while the alternate bevel makes the cuts smooth. You will love the performance of this saw blade.

The Cabinetmaker Thin Kerf Blade is another good blade! Crosscut or rip any type of wood. No need to change the blade once it's on your saw. The 18°-hook angle is aggressive on rip cuts while the alternate bevel makes the cuts smooth. The thin kerf is made for underpowered saws but walks right through your stock on regular cabinet saws while reducing waste.
